WE NOMINATE

the 140 Princeton men and women—the congregation of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah—who have written into Princeton's annals one of the most heart-warming and typically American stories of the post-war era. In a period when doubt is contagious, when no one can be sure what will next develop, even in high places of government, it is reassuring to know that a group of determined families can start with faith alone and in less than five years can reach the point where they are this week dedicating a $100,000 church, a structure they themselves have "built" with the understanding help of their community and of Lutheran Church authorities.

In the winter of 1947 a 28-year old pastor, Milton John Nauss (TOWN TOPICS' Man of the Week, January 9-15, 1949), was called here to launch a new Lutheran mission project. The nucleus of his parish consisted of exactly one family. There was no other semblance of organization, no lists of prospective members and not even a place to worship until the Westminster Choir College generously made its chapel available without charge. Easter Sunday, 1947, marked the formal beginning with 48 present at the service. Attendance slumped distressingly during the spring, dipped to a low of 17 and then started to climb.

Months later the Voters' Assembly of the church gathered to discuss the purchase of a possible church-site, the southwest corner of Nassau Street and Cedar Lane. In the midst of the discussion Nauss was called to the telephone; he returned in a moment to announce that an anonymous gift of $1,000 would be in the Assembly's hands in the morning. The unexpected struck the spark that burned away any lingering indecision. Ground for the simply designed brick building was broken in December, 1950, after each member of the congregation had done the utmost to guarantee his or her church's future.

In much the same way that churches were built in this nation's early decades, the congregation and town have "pitched in" wherever possible. For instance, the interior painting and much of the carpentry have been done by members who have worked voluntarily several evenings a week since early fall. A "neighbor" of the new structure, with no connection whatsoever with the church, forwarded a contribution, the altarware was donated by a University undergraduate and all major phases of the undertaking were carried forwarded by local firms striving to hold costs to a minimum.

For bringing into being a community institution that will come to play an increasingly important role in every-day Princeton life; for demonstrating the enormous power of the faith of many made for One; these 140 Princetonians are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

Topics of the Town

Damming the Weather. About 50 percent more rain than normal has fallen since the first of the year. During the height of Monday's day-long drizzle, Woolworth's summed up the situation, neatly if a bit morosely, by placing a sign among rainwear in its window: "Protection for the whole damp family."

Tax Picture Unfolds. Princeton Township's 1952 tax rate, set for preliminary ratification this week, was expected to range somewhere from $5.10 to $5.50 per hundred dollars of assessed property, depending on the amount of surplus allocated by the governing body to its new budget. While the figure might be as much as 60 or 70 points above that of the borough's—for the first time in the history of the two municipalities—property owners in the township would not feel the increase as much as a first glance at the figures might indicate. The township's assessment policy is generally lower than that of its neighboring municipality by as much as 14 percent (26 percent of market value to 40 percent in the borough.)

No absolute knowledge of the rate would be available until late next Wednesday night, when the voters' attitude toward the school budget was known. If it was vetoed—and a sizeable amount of opposition to it existed—the figures would be scaled downwards and resubmitted to the people.

Election Information

School district polls open from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., Wednesday, February 13.

Borough residents vote at Nassau Street School; township residents at Valley Road School.

For candidates' background and statements, see pages 3 and 5.

For election results Thursday morning, telephone TOWN TOPICS, 4272.

Players Pick Cast. Mrs. Tristam Johnson and Hartley Streiff have been cast in the leading roles in "The Magic Well," the Community Players' forthcoming musical. Scheduled for production on March 7 and 8 in McCarter Theatre, the play is a new collaboration by P. MacKay Sturges and Alfred M. Wade.

Given an Irish setting, the musical will spin a romantic story with a background of Irish folklore. Members of the supporting cast include Mrs. Welling Hankinson, Miss Dorothy Rilton, Henry Ross, Insley Pyne, Robert McManus and William Lippincott. A mixed chorus of adults and children includes singers from both Westminster Choir College and the Columbus Boychoir School.

Technical committe heads are John Miller, orchestration; Miss Dorothy Reiffel, set designs; Henry Minden, scenery construction; Roger Cook, lighting; Mrs. Richard Palmer and Mrs. Philip Keppler, Jr., make-up; Mrs. Walker Stevenson, costumes. Ticket applications will go in the mail shortly and the public sale starts February 29 at Hinkson's and the University Store.

Rube in Reverse. City dwellers who amusedly tell stories about the hayseed doings of their country brethren never drew a very responsive chord from us. Somehow we couldn't see the humor in the tale about the naive visitor to New York who ran up a $2 taxi fare while the driver took some circuitous route from the Biltmore Hotel to the Grand Central Station.

On the contrary, we hail with considerable delight the fact that a life-long New Yorker, who hadn't been in Princeton for several years after graduating here, told us the other day that he called a taxi to take him from Renwick's to Opinion Research.

Heavy Vote Expected. With a total of eight candidates on the ballot and a budget that had already been attacked and amended, Princeton Township was looking for a record turnout at the district polls Wednesday. The question of school costs and the manner of operation had been a hotly debated point in the municipality more often than not in the post-war years.

To identify each candidate and show why each was seeking office and how he felt about the proposed budget, the League of Women Voters asked township nominees to provide biographical material and answer two questions:

1. What is your principal reason for wishing to serve on the board of education?

2. Do you approve of the proposed township school budget? If not, how do you suggest that it be changed?

The unopposed candidate for the two-year term:

WILLIAM F. GALE, 59 Birch Avenue; operator of the cleaning and pressing shop bearing his name; educated in Princeton public schools and Howard University, Washington, D. C.; a resident here for 51 years and currently serving an unexpired term on the school board.

1. I consider it a high honor and privilege to be selected to help carry on the duties of the Board of Education in the community in which I live.

2. I do most heartily approve of the proposed Township budget, and I do not think it can be changed without harm to the program.

Seven candidates the three-year terms:

NORMAN J. ANDERSON, Mount Lucas Road; chief accountant, Controller's Office, Princeton University; educated in Trenton public schools, N. J. State Teachers' College and Walton School of Accounting, Chicago; a Princetonian for 13 years; four children in the township of high schools:

1. As a civic-minded citizen I want to offer my services to the community.

2. No comment.

MRS. MARGARET A. BRADLEY, Valley Road; wife of Richard E. Bradley, township building inspector; educated in public schools in four cities and a graduate of Rosemont College; holds secondary school teacher's certificate from Pennsylvania; a resident here 11 years and currently a member of the school board; four oldest of her five children attend the township school.

1. Because I have a keen interest in the maintenance and improvement of our school system both in its physical properties and educational standards. I would like to continue with some projects I have been instrumental in commencing and others I anticipate in the future.

2. Yes. Can a family double its size and still function on same budget as five years ago? Large item

It's New to Us

New Business in Town. Four Princetonians have started a new business, the only one of its kind in town and one that fills a real need in this fast-growing community. The Princeton Photo Process Company, 11 Witherspoon, has opened its door (9-5 daily) to anyone who needs reproductions of line copy.

Blueprints, ozalid prints, photocopies, microfilm—the shop does them all, rapidly and expertly. Princeton Photo Process can give you daily service. Bring in your job in the morning and you can have it that same afternoon. To give you an idea of the speedy service, the shop can turn out 1,000 8½ by 11 letters daily.

The guiding hands belong to John Bliss and George A. Cameron, Jr. Albridge C. Smith III and Hugh A. Wise, Jr. are interested investors. Mr. Cameron has been in this kind of work for over 20 years in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. As a matter of fact, he designed some of the machines that Princeton Photo Process is using.

The shop has the equipment to reproduce from microfilm, then make paper reproductions from the film. Using new techniques just developed, it can mount your microfilm on cards—IBM, Remington or any others—so that your record can be filed if you wish. Then when you want to change the file, the microfilm record can be changed, too.

With business storage space at a premium in Princeton, microfilm is almost a necessity. It can also be used, as you know, to make a duplicate set of records to store, for safety's sake, in a place apart from the original set. In all the microfilm work, Princeton Photo Process has the benefit of Eastman Kodak's equipment and supplies.

Of course Princeton Photo Process can take care of your individual needs, as well as those of business organizations. Somebody is always asking for copies of an Army discharge, a marriage license or a birth certificate. Now you won't have to make bothersome trips out of town to get the job done quickly.

We like the idea of the local touch, somehow. All four PPP men are well-known here. They're established residents with skills and reputations that townsmen can rely on. Jot down the address on your memo pad: 11 Witherspoon.

With Brush in Hand. Another kind of craftsmanship comes into its own at the Nassau Paint Store, 126 Nassau. Back in the days when grandma put hand-painted violets on china, there was never anything like this. Today's housewife who gets a kick out of Pennsylvania-Dutching an old chest or dressing up a battered chair has a whole store-ful of special paints, brushes and art supplies to pick around in.

You know those colorful Tole trays, black with antique flower and bird designs? If you want to put color on something smaller of budget is $350 per high school pupil. Our tuition is $250. Consider budget on basis of per capita cost and it is not only reasonable but commendable for its economy.

DR. J. DONALD BUTLER, 16 Southern Way, Associate Professor of History and Philosophy of Education at Princeton Theological Seminary; educated in public schools of Nebraska, holds degrees from University of Omaha, Biblical Seminary in New York and New York University; a resident here since 1944 and the father of three children, two in the township school.

1. While my candidacy resulted from the urging of friends, shouldering of community responsibility is a matter of conscience for me. It is reasonable, education being my field of specialization and my support of the public schools being without reservation, that I should serve my community on the board of education.

2. I approved the proposed budget, without the recently published curtailments. I do not believe in false economy; my primary concern is that our schools be made the very best. If more money must be expended in order to do this, then it should be found.

WILLIAM S. CARPENTER, 16 Hartley Avenue; professor in Department of Politics at Princeton; educated in Philadelphia schools, University of Pennsylvania and Princeton University; a Princetonian for 32 years; one child who formerly attended borough and township public schools.

1. I believe my training and experience as a teacher and public official will enable me to be helpful as a member of the Board of Education. I have been a resident and taxpayer in the Princeton community for 32 years and I am interested in its problems.

2. I criticized the original budget at the hearing because it showed that the board had indulged in deficit financing in the current fiscal year without correctly reflecting this situation in its presentation. This is unsound fiscal planning. If and when these evils have been cured, I shall support the budget.

LEBARON R. FOSTER, Prospect Avenue Extension; vice-president of Opinion Research; educated in public schools at Newton, Mass., Harvard University and Harvard School of Business Administration; a Princetonian for 12 years and currently a member of the school board; has three children, two of whom have attended the township school and one of pre-school age.

1. The township school program has developed rapidly in the five years since I first campaigned for the new building. There is much to be done. Present plans of our board shoot for higher standards of education, and I should like to see them carried through.

2. The budget as finally pared down is realistic, in view of the large rise in enrollment. It includes special capital outlays this year; hence future development of playground and school facilities should be possible with no further increase in the school tax rate. I shall work toward that objective.

FRANK T. GIBMAN, JR., 8 Southern Way; faculty member at Princeton Country Day School; educated at Country Day, Lawrenceville and Princeton; a Princetonian for 28 years; three children of pre-school age, the oldest of which will enter the township school next fall.

1. As a resident of Princeton for 28 years, I wish to do what I can for the education of all children and do something in my own field to help Princeton.

2. I did not entirely approve of

News of the Theatres

UNIVERSITY CONCERTS

One of the top musical events of the season is scheduled for next Wednesday at 8:30 in the McCarter Theatre when the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra makes its annual appearance here. George Szell is the conductor.

The program will include Brnhm's "Tragic Overture," Opus 81; the Suite from the Ballet, "Pulcinella," for Small Orchestra (after Pergolesi); "Don Juan," a Tone Poem (after Lenau), Opus 20, by Strauss; and Schumann's Symphony No. 4 in D minor, Opus 120. Tickets for the performance, the third in University Concerts Series I, are on sale at the University Store and, on Wednesday evening, at the theatre.

The Mozart trio will be heard next Friday evening, February 15, in a program of selections by that composer. Its members are Katharine Hansel, soprano; John Yard, baritone; Joseph Collins, baritone; and William Reese at the piano. Tickets at the University Store.

CHILDREN'S SERIES

Abe Lincoln — River Days will mark the great Civil War president's birthday on Tuesday in McCarter Theatre. The Children's World Theatre will present a drama based on his early years on the Ohio River frontier, the third in the current Children's Entertainment Series.

Education, drama and humor are well blended in this story of the boatmen who plied the broad Ohio more than a century ago. Tickets for the play, presented under the auspices of the borough elementary schools PTA, may be obtained through Mrs. Oscar Sussman, 46 Linden Lane, or on Tuesday at the box office.

FILM CLASSICS

The spring series of motion pictures that have retained their popularity through the years has been announced this week by Princeton Group Arts, sponsor of this well-liked program. The first film, to be shown on Washington's Birthday, will be "The Thin Man," the detective story-comedy that William Powell and Myrna Loy delighted movie-goers with some 18 years ago.

Following at intervals during the coming weeks will be "Carnival in Flanders," "The Ghost Goes West," "Henry VIII" and "Great Expectations." Each is outstanding in its field.

Performances are given at 7 and again at 9 in 10 McCosh Hall on the University campus. Full details, including ticket prices, are in the advertisement on page 12.

EUROPA THEATRE

The Medium, a fine opera written by the talented Gian-Carlo Menotti, is at this New Brunswick theatre through the first evening show (at 7) on Sunday. Music-lovers will find it presents a delightful score, backed by striking photography.

The 9 o'clock show Sunday will open a week's run of Ninotchka, the rib-tickling comedy of a decade ago in which Greta Garbo pokes fun at Russia and the nonsensical aspects of its communistic regime. As topical and amusing as ever, it's a re-issue well worth seeing.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Room for One More (Thurs.-Sat.) is enjoyable fare from start to finish. The heart-warming story of a couple (Cary Grant and Betsy Drake) who add two foster children to three of their own, the film is a blend of entertaining, sentimental comedy. The plot centers about the parents' efforts to win the love of the adopted children after early embittered years under another roof.

Pandora and the Flying Dutchman (Sun.-Tues.) blends the legend about the Dutchman doomed to roam the world until a woman proves her love for him by giving

MEN WHO SPENT MANY HOURS HELPING COMPLETE THE NEW LUTHERAN CHURCH

Much of the interior of the Lutheran Church, which will be dedicated Sunday, was the work of the men shown on the steps of the new building at Nassau Street and Cedar Lane. In the front row are Michael Falchey, Fred Anderson, Pastor Milton Nauss and Henry Schmidt. Behind them are Professor Alfred Sorenson, Ture Bergman, Edward Classen and Martin Mains. The contractors were L. C. Bowers and Sons, while interior woodwork was by Fred Mains and Son.

the township school budget which was presented at the public hearing, but the new budget appears to be more sound and less padded.

MRS. OLGA T. SMITH, 302 Western Way; wife of Paul S. Smith, an officer in the First National Bank; educated at Trenton public schools, Miss Fine's School and holds degrees from Wellesley and Columbia; has taught in Mercer County schools; one child in the township school.

1. Educating our children requires the best our community can offer. As a former teacher, a parent and homeowner, I am sincerely interested in and appreciate the problems of child, teacher and taxpayer. I would consider it a great privilege to participate in the sound administration of our school system.

2. Yes.

In the borough, the budget was but six points higher than last year and the three incumbents were faced with no opposition. They included:

IRVING W. MERSHON, 159 Nassau Street; head of the O. H. Hubbard insurance and real estate agency; educated in Princeton public and private schools; a life-long Princetonian, a member of the board of education for 21 years and its present clerk.

ROGER J. O'KANE, 40 Wiggins Street; employment manager of the DeLaval Steam Turbine Co. of Trenton; educated in Princeton parochial and public schools and Princeton University; four children who have been or are borough public school pupils.

CYRUS C. YOUNG, 38 Hawthorne Avenue; associated with Ted Bates & Co., advertising; educated in Baltimore public schools and at Johns Hopkins University; a resident here nine years; four children in borough public schools.

A Look at the Future. The Lions Club provided its members and representatives of the press with a thoroughly informative evening Tuesday when it staged an open forum on the broad subject of consolidation of borough and township. Mayor P. MacKay Sturges was one of the principal speakers.

advocating the need for complete cooperation between the two municipalities, while Committeeman John H. Wallace, Jr. talked informally and answered questions directed to him as a representative of the township.

Mr. Sturges reiterated the need he sees for elimination of duplicated services, for achieving greater economy, for ending the current practice of planning and zoning one community through separate bodies whose members are rarely if ever under the same roof. Mr. Wallace took exception here and there to the urgency for action, asserting that Princeton is not yet ready for consolidation, but added:

"It is not too early to start studying the whole question. Eventually—no one can say when—I think consolidation will come as a practical matter."

It was the first time that any official representative of the township had given unqualified, if long-range, approval to such a development. In further support of the move were figures released by Stephen Rogers and John Collins, two Princeton seniors who have completed an exhaustive study on many aspects of the knotty problem.

A cross-section of Princetonians, accurately proportioned among borough and township residents, was asked to express an opinion on the subject. Of those who did so, the vote was in favor of consolidation by a ratio as high as nine to two.

Similar Tragedies. In the space of 24 hours, four persons in two homes in the Princeton area were found dead of accidental carbon monoxide poisoning caused by kerosene heaters.

Joseph C. Tarevla, Sr., 79, and his son, Joseph, 39, died some time Sunday in the kitchen of their home on Cherry Hill Road in Montgomery Township, near Blawenberg. A Public Service meter reader found them the next day.

James McCoy and his wife, Minnie, of 228 Witherspoon Street, both about 65 years of age, were found Tuesday night by police who answered the call of a neighbor, M. D. Lee of 221 Witherspoon. Mrs. McCoy was seated in a living room chair. Mr. McCoy on the floor in the dining room. They, too, were believed to have died some time on Sunday. Answering the call were Sergeant Charles Anderson, Patrol-

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Helsinki-Bound. Dr. Harry R. McPhee, who supervises the medical side of Princeton University's athletic program, has been honored with an invitation to serve as head physician to U. S. Olympic athletes in Finland this summer. He will be in charge of some 500 men and women from this country.

Asked to serve as one of eight regular trainers is Eddie Zanfrini, head trainer of Princeton's championship football team. The honor accorded each man is a mark of major achievement in his field.

Basketball to Be Televised. Princeton's next two Eastern League basketball games will be on television. The Tigers play Penn in the Palestra Saturday night at 9 and Channel 7 will carry the action. The Columbia contest Wednesday night will start at 9 and will be seen on Channel 9 five minutes later. Some schedule commitment apparently makes a 9 o'clock telecast impossible.

Trouble Ahead. Princeton's basketball team blew hot and cold in its return to action Tuesday night but it finally blew past Temple by a scant three-point margin to win, 59-56. At the same time, it must be said that the Tigers weren't impressive and appear due to absorb some lop-sided defeats in the second half of the season.

Gradually pulling away from a mediocre Temple quintet (which hasn't won a major game all season and is now 5-11), the home forces held a 33-25 margin at half time, largely through the five set shots that sophomore Phil Zuravleff had netted from well out.

When play resumed, the lead promptly vanished. Paced by All-American Bill Mlkvy (high for the evening with 17 points), the Owls rose from an eight-point deficit to a 41-36 lead. Here, however, Zuravleff connected for two more in succession and Foster Cooper sank a jump shot to put the Tigers in front with two minutes to go in the third quarter.

They hung on to the finish, snapping a final deadlock at 45-all and eventually setting up a semi-freeze to win their sixth in 14 starts. But polished Penn and steady Columbia, playing on their home courts, may be too much for the in-and-out Princetonians by 15 to 20 points.

Glass Wins Again. Brad Glass continued unbeaten as a college wrestler when he pinned his opponent in 4:27 in the New York A.C. ed the tables on Brown at New Haven Saturday night, Princeton wound up as the only unbeaten team in the Pentagonal League. The Tigers have four points representing victories over Dartmouth and Harvard; Yale also has four points but has a defeat, as have the Bruins. The latter play Harvard at Providence this Thursday night before the Nassau skaters arrive there for the Saturday clash.

Brown paid for coasting on a 2-0 lead, because the Elis outhustled them and proceeded to rack up a 5-2 advantage. The defending champions then scored twice, following with what appeared to be the tieing goal but it was disallowed because a player was in the crease. Yale's sixth marker came when Brown's goalie had been removed.

Dick Vaughan's forces will be doing extremely well if they top the Rhode Islanders on their home ice Saturday. Brown has a smart, well-balanced outfit which will be battling hard to atone for the over-confidence that was apparent at New Haven Saturday.

Princeton, which was to face a strong St. Lawrence aggregation Thursday night before leaving for the New England trip, was ready to go with its first two lines, probably six better players than any other Pentagonal team could put on the ice. Bill Osgood, center on the third line, dropped out of college for academic reasons last week and has been replaced by Ed Duffy. Art Collins and Bill Bancroft will continue on the wings.

Sophomore Dick Court may get medical clearance after six weeks on the sidelines. If so, he will see action on defense, possibly pairing with Captain Alex Mills. A Canadian, he would bolster the Nassau squad in measurable fashion.

First Swimming Loss. Princeton's swimmers put up a stout battle at Chapel Hill Monday but suffered their first setback of the season as North Carolina won the meet on the next-to-last event for a 43½ to 40½ victory.

Captain Bob Brawner and sprinters John Stone and Ed Craig, Coach Howie Stepp's most reliable trio, all set records for dual meets between the two colleges, as they captured the 200-yard breaststroke, 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard freestyle, respectively. The Tigers' 300-yard medley relay team of John Weber, Brawner and Craig also cracked the dual meet mark with a fine 2:55.2 performance.

recorded and then played back for those confined to their homes or the hospital. A baptismal service was included, and Mr. Anderson added that a record of this event is now made available to each family participating.

Carnival Committee. "Cracked Ice" is the name given to the annual ice carnival which the Princeton Skating Club will sponsor on March 21 and 22 with the Community Players. Club president Lester Tibbals, Jr., is in charge of production; John Lees is treasurer and Miss Hildegard Rose is secretary.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Laurence Ward, patron invitations; Mrs. Ethel Brummer, ticket printing; Mrs. Gordon Sikes, advance sale; Mrs. William Lippincott, public sale; Mrs. Frank Hubby, program; Mrs. Hugh Sloan, program advertisements; Henry Kenarney, program sales; Mrs. Glenn Jepsen, boys' costumes; Mrs. Henry Cannon and Mrs. Richard Poisson, girls' costumes.

Also, Mrs. Norton Smith, information and reception; Mrs. Everett Tomlinson, children's court; Mrs. Henry Kenarney, dressing room personnel; Mrs. Thomas Atchison, transportation; Mrs. Charles Erdman, Jr., housing; Mrs. Gilbert Lea, ushers; Mrs. Douglas Levick and Mrs. James Kerney, entertainment; Cornelius Morris, publicity.

Cub Scouts Active. Cub Scouts in Princeton will mark Boy Scout Anniversary Week with a dinner Wednesday at 6:45 at Princeton Engine Co. No. 1. Chestnut Street. All cub scouts are invited to attend with parent or guardian; tickets are available from the den mothers of packs 50, 77 and 88.

Football player Dick Kazmaier, who by now is as expert at being the guest of honor at banquets as he was on the gridiron last fall, has accepted an invitation to attend. William E. Firth, field scout executive, and members of the George Washington Council, B. S. A., will also be present. Pack flags and individual awards will be presented.

Legion Meeting. All past and present members of Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, as well as other veterans in the community, are invited to attend the post's meeting next Wednesday at 53 Mercer Street. The organization has labelled the program "Usta Night," explaining that it will extend a special welcome to members who "usta" come but don't any more.

Following the business session over which Commander James Keels will preside, Alvin Kurtz of the Social Security Administration office in Trenton will speak and show a motion picture. Refreshments will be served at the end of the evening under the direction of Norman Fowler.

Example Set. The Mothers' March on Polio was scheduled to take place throughout the community this Thursday evening from 6:30 to 7:30, climaxing the March of Dimes campaign here. Contributions would be sought from all homes where a porch light shone or one was burning in a window near the door.

The Nassau matmen have topped Penn and lost to Franklin and Marshall. They'll go against Rutgers at New Brunswick Saturday.

P.H.S. Wins. Princeton High School ran away from South River Friday night in what had been expected to be a close contest. Paced by Buster Thomas with 27 points and Tom Perks with 20, the Blue and White racked up a surprising 69-46 victory over its strong opponents.

Twenty-four points in a sizzling third period did the trick, the visitors—who had a 9-3 record—coming up with only six in this quarter. They badly missed the presence of their ace, Dick Mead, who was out with a sprained ankle after rolling to an average of 29 points a game earlier this season.

More on Tape Sermons. The Witherspoon Presbyterian Church reported this week through its pastor, the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, that it had provided members of its parish with tape recordings of services last November. It was accordingly the first to have done so in Princeton, preceding such a move by Trinity Episcopal Church (reported here last week) by some two months.

The entire service, from the first notes of the organ through the hymns, prayers and sermon, was

than a chest, you can buy a basic black tray, plain or scalloped. Then, without moving from the spot, select the paints and brushes to turn your black tray into a bouquet of color. Prices on trays range from 20 cents to $4.50.

If you're unsure with a paintbrush, as we are, you can even buy the design (choice of five) trace it onto your tray, then fill in the color.

To match the Tole tray, how about a plant holder, also in black? Ferneries, they used to call them. These are about $3.30.

Don't put the brush down yet. Next in line you'll see blank ceramic tiles, six inches square, for 25 and 30 cents apiece. Buy some Flo-paque paint, apply it along with your imagination and you have a tile your very own. Ever price a hand-painted tile? At this rate you could outline your whole fireplace with them, the way they do in Holland.

Once you find out how much fun it is to make-it-yourself, you'll decide to try a lampshade kit. These shades are made of polyplastex, a translucent product that's really fiberglass locked in plastic. You lace the sections together to fit a round, drum, or octagon shade. In yellow, amber, natural, red, pink, green or chartreuse, with prices ranging from $1.29 to $2.25.

This Heart is Thine! Ever eat the box your chocolates came in? You probably will if your Valentine has the forethought to buy you the chocolate heart at the Black Lantern, 8 Chambers. This heart is actually a box with a removable top and it's made entirely of chocolate, your choice of milk or dark. The heart is about six inches each way, and it can be filled for $1 with any kind of candy you pick from the Black Lantern's case.

Cardboard boxes made like red hearts are filled with mint cream hearts, wild cherry fruit slices and those wonderful motto hearts we remember from Valentine's Day celebrations in our childhood.

For a very special Valentine's Day tea party, why not buy sugar cubes with a tiny red candy heart on top of each one? Ten cents a dozen. And to serve with the tea, the Black Lantern offers you speculas with almonds, a biscuit made and boxed in Amsterdam.

We sampled these biscuits the very day they came in and we almost ate the whole box. The biscuit is really a cookie, delicately flavored with chocolate and spices and well-textured with the almonds. It comes in a tin box, so it's a good traveler and we recommend it for servicemen on that account.

The Fabric Is the Story. At the Clothes Line, on Palmer Square, they're talking about fabric, fabric. Some seasons it's line or color, but this spring it's fabric. Most of it is the rustly, hustly kind that always gets the adjective "feminine."

You can find a taffy-colored antique taffeta, or one with a stiff hour-glass silhouette—taffetas that will be every bit as good this summer as they are right now. One regal-looking dress is done in corded bengaline, heavier than a faille and really sumptuous.

Lots of dress skirts are lined with taffeta so if you wear them over a petticoat, you get yourself a double rustle. Some skirts are prints and the solid-color lining—perhaps white or navy—points up the design. These are quiet prints, no splashy cabbage-roses. Many of them feature tiny figures on a dark ground, widely spaced and reticent.

her life) with a modern-day setting, but falls short of being good entertainment. Ava Gardner is cast as a beauty who leaves a trail of unrequited suitors behind her until she finds fascination in the 20th century Dutchman (James Mason.) Wordy, slow-moving and far too long—second show at 9:20.

Phone Call From a Stranger (Wed.-Sat.), based on an interesting story by I.A.R. Wylie, tells of the fate of four passengers in a plane crash and what one of them does to straighten out the lives of the others' families. Dramatically told, well acted by Gary Merrill, Keenan Wynn, Shelley Winters.

THE GARDEN

The Tanks Are Coming (Fri.-Sat.), a World War II action piece, follows the Third Division from St. Lo across France toward Germany in the company of a platoon dominated by a tough sergeant. Good but sporadic action and a routine story.

The Maltese Falcon (Mon.-Tues.), first issued in 1940, is based on the thriller written by Dashiell Hammett and has Humphrey Bogart in the male lead. So old that Mary Astor plays opposite him, but still a satisfactory melodrama.

Pool of London (Wed.-Thurs.) takes the waterfront in the British capital as its setting and injects a plot based on diamond robbery and murder to keep the interest at a good pitch. An English production, its cast includes Bonar Colleano and Susan Shaw.

Miscellany. A booklet, "Thirty Years of the Y.W.C.A. of Princeton" is being made available by the association to all who are interested at its 202 Nassau Street headquarters. Covering the period of the Y.W.'s growth, naming many Princetonians and detailing interesting anecdotes, the booklet was prepared by the late Mrs. Elmer Loomis, who was assisted by Mrs. Howard Eldridge, Miss Mary Fisk, Mrs. E. Harris Harbison and Mrs. Howard Waxwood.
